2. APUS Annual Report

Kearns states she is the APUS Acting President, thanks everyone for coming and states that it has been a wonderful year at APUS. She states that we are here to serve part-time and mature students and giving voice to those who are often neglected. She states that we have been around for 50 years and just celebrated our 50th anniversary. She states that we will present our services, operations, events and programming, and campaigns and advocacy.

Froom states she is the APUS Vice-President Internal and provides an overview of our services. She states that one of our largest services is our Health & Dental plan. Our Health & Dental plan is through Green Shield Canada, the largest not for profit insurance company. She states that new benefits this year include oral contraceptives and mental health services. It would not be an APUS AGM if she did not mention the Dental Discount Network, which allows students to access 100% dental coverage for most services. She states that we just finished the tax clinic today and that is a great free service for students. She states that at our Sid Smith office, we have the APUS Study Space and Lounge which offers the most affordable printing on campus as well as free coffee, tea, and a microwave. She states that this year we launched our new and restructured bursary program in honour of our 50th anniversary. We now offer the following bursaries: APUS General Bursary, APUS Access Bursary, APUS Indigenous Student Bursary, APUS Black Student Bursary, APUS Queer and Trans Student Bursary, Jovita Nagy Bursary (for UTM & UTSC students), Marija Hutchison Bursary (for TYP and Academic Bridging students). She states that we recently conducted an APUS Services' Survey where we also received great feedback from our members and we have already implemented better dental coverage as a result of this survey.

Pyne states that our programming this year has included, our Pride Pop-Up, our Caribana Patio Lime, Queer Orientation: Plant Pot Painting Party in collaboration with LGBTOUT, APUS Part-Time and Mature Student Orientation, and outreaching at many events on campus during Orientation season. He states that we are able to discuss the realities of being part time and mature students on campus and have resources available.

Coggon states that we celebrated our 50th anniversary in November 2018. She states that we co-hosted a Literary Night Open House at North Borden, and opened up our archives in the boardroom to allow visitors to see the history of student activism reflected in the archive. She hands out copies of our 50th anniversary magazine, Part-Time and Proud: 50 Years of Student Activism. She notes that the visuals came from our archives. She states that we also had a 50th birthday celebration with popcorn, caricatures, cake and desserts at Sid Smith. We were happy to celebrate the determination and strength of folks who founded APUS back in 1968.

Pyne states that during the exam period we participate in exam jams with ASSU and CFS-O and we host de-stressors. He states that during these de-stressors we give out care packages and talk about mental health. He states that we hosted an affordable 5 Buck Lunch at Hart House with Students for Barrier Free Access. He states that we also hosted a Ninth Floor Documentary Screening, which highlights the forgotten history of a Black student occupation at Sir George Williams University in the 1960s which led to the creation of University Ombudsperson offices. He states that we run Cupcakes and Chill, which is a weekly programming series where we do puzzles and eat cupcakes and take a break.

Kearns states that she will now talk about our campaigns and advocacy. She states that APUS speaks at Governing Council, U of T's highest governing body, whenever possible. She states that we spoke out against UMLAP many times as it was problematic for our members. She states that we sit on many committees including the Council on Student Services, Hart House Board of Stewards, Council on Athletics and Recreation, the Library Student Advisory Committee, and the Community Liaison Committee. She states that Froom loves the Library Student Advisory Committee. She states that we are the proud Local 97 of the Canadian Federation of Students. She states that we go to their general meetings, both in Ontario and nationally. She states that we bring motions forward and do a lot of advocacy work for students across Ontario and nationally. She states that as an Indigenous student, she has been able to participate in the Circle of First Nations, Metis, and Inuit students national and provincial meetings, and that APUS has been instrumental in bringing Indigenous students into that space. She states that we work with UTGSU, UTMSU, and SCSU in solidarity on issues across U of T. She states that we co-organized an all-candidates debate for the provincial elections. She provides a review of the recent cuts to post-secondary education and highlights how the cuts will affect our members. She states that food banks, drop in centres and many services offered for students by students are at risk. She states that the changes to OSAP will make it harder for our members to access post-secondary education. She states that APUS took the lead for the St George student walkout as part of our Tell Them No campaign, which was part of a province wide walkout. She states that there was a lot of media and it was well-attended. Pyne states that we were also able to highlight marginalized students' voices and give a platform to the folks that will be most impacted by these changes. Kearns states that just yesterday she spoke out at Governing Council against these cuts.

Opolski notes that the Mature Students Association is up and running again and provides members with contact information.

Froom states that we are a membership-driven organization. She states that our governance structure includes the Board, the Assembly and Annual General Meeting. She states that our Bylaws are available online and explain our structure in detail.

She states that we are also planning our Spring Banquet on Friday April 26 at 6:30pm at the Multi Faith Centre. She states that tickets are $5 until April 15 and that this ends the APUS Annual Report.

She states that we therefore did research to find a new auditing firm. She states that the Board is recommending Grant Thornton as our new auditors for 2018-2019. She states that they have a lot of experience with not-for-profits.

Froom states that Grant Thornton is very familiar with student unions and that they are a good choice for APUS.

Vote carries.

7. Ratification of Bylaw Amendments

Motion Moved: Froom Seconded: Kearns

Be it resolved that the Bylaw Amendments as recommended by the APUS Board of Directors and confirmed by the APUS Assembly be confirmed as presented.

Froom states that there are a series of bylaw amendments which start on page 12 on the AGM package. They have been approved by our Board of Directors and confirmed by our Assembly. There are 16 amendments and they are grouped together in categories, many of which are typographical errors and renumbering. Amendment 1 is in regards to students ages 65 and over in order to make sure that they are still APUS members. Amendment 9 makes a small substantial change that allows non permanent employees to run for the Assembly and the Board. She states that this would allow part-time student info clerks who are hired on contracts to get involved with APUS following their employment. She states that the next three amendments have to do with ex officio status on our Board. She states that we have 12 voting directors on our Board. There are also Board members with no voting rights but speaking rights, and these are part-time student governors, APUS past president and representatives of SCSU and UTMSU. She states that we are not changing what these folks can do only their titles. She states that she is happy to answer questions.

Staff: Caitlin Campisi, Najia Fatima

Speaker: Nadia Kanani

Everyone introduces themselves and states their access needs.

Kanani states that we will begin with the presentation of the annual report from the Executive Committee, and then we will hear the auditor's report.

2. APUS Annual Report

Kearns states that she is the APUS Acting President, and provides a brief year in review and an introduction to APUS and our history of fighting for the rights of part-time students since 1968. She states that she is proud to note that this year marked 50 years of activism at APUS.

Froom states she is the APUS Vice-President Internal and provides an overview of our services. She states that one of our largest services is our Health & Dental plan. She states that our Health & Dental plan is affordable, popular, and includes health, dental, vision, and travel insurance. She notes that students can access up to 100% coverage if they use a dentist on the Dental Discount Network for many services. She states that we also offer free Tax Clinics in partnership with the UTGSU and offer volunteer opportunities for students which includes training and recognition from the CRA. She states that at our Sid Smith office, we have the APUS Study Space and Lounge which offers the most affordable printing on campus as well as free coffee, tea, and a microwave. She states that this year we launched our new and restructured bursary program in honour of our 50th anniversary. We now offer the following bursaries: APUS General Bursary, APUS Access Bursary, APUS Indigenous Student Bursary, APUS Black Student Bursary, APUS Queer and Trans Student Bursary, Jovita Nagy Bursary (for UTM & UTSC students), Marija Hutchison Bursary (for TYP and Academic Bridging students). She states that we have gotten very good feedback from our members about the new bursary program. She states that we recently conducted an APUS Services' Survey where we also received great feedback from our members and we currently in the process of implementing many of their recommendations.

Kearns states that we also offer a series of programming and events throughout the year. She states that in June, we hosted a Pride Pop-Up, and in August we hosted a Caribana Patio Lime event outside in front of our office with food, music and a caricature artist. She states that in September, we focused on Orientation outreach, including the Mature and Transfer Student Welcome, the APUS Part-Time and Mature Student Orientation, and the Queer Orientation Plant Pot Painting Party. We also co-hosted the Literary Night Open House here at North Borden.

From notes that the Literary Night Open House was part of our 50th anniversary celebration, where we opened up our student activism archives to visitors. She states that we also launched a publication, Part-Time and Proud: 50 Years of Student Activism, our 50th anniversary magazine which includes a wonderful collection of memories from our long history. She states that it highlights our advocacy for part-time students but also speaks to the whole concept of part-time study. She states that we also hosted a Birthday Party in our Sid Smith office, with an open house, balloons, caricatures, birthday cake and popcorn.

Kearns states that we also participated in Exam Jams with CFS-Ontario and ASSU during the exam period. She states that we gave out Take a Break packages to students. She states that we also hosted a 5 Buck Lunch at Hart House with Students for Barrier-Free Access. She notes that we hosted a Ninth Floor Documentary Screening as part of Black History Month to highlight this forgotten history of student organizing. She states that in January, we also piloted Cupcakes and Chill, every Wednesday in our Sid Smith office. She states that we are working on a 1000 piece puzzle with our members. The series is really popular and we will be continuing it for the rest of the semester.

From states that we also do a lot of advocacy for students. We advocate for students, particularly part-time students, at the U of T, provincial, and federal government level. She states that we have spoken at a lot of Governing Council meetings. We particularly spoke out against the University-Mandated Leave of Absence Policy (UMLAP), which is a new U of T policy where students who are in distress can be mandated out of the university without their consent. She states that we were able to get some amendments to the policy made out of this advocacy. She states that we also against the smoke-free policy because of the lack of consultation with student groups, and the need for designated smoking areas, which were put in place. We also meet regularly with the Office of the Vice-Provost Students and bring up a variety of concerns that affect part-time students.

Kearns states that although UMLAP passed, we are very much still advocating against the policy and supporting our members who are concerned. From states that we are continuing to monitor this situation and the promises that were made to us about how it would be implemented.

From states that there are a number of U of T committees on which APUS has a seat, including the Council on Student Services, Hart House Board of Stewards, Council on Athletics and Recreation, the Library Student Advisory Committee, and the Community Liaison Committee. APUS representatives to these committees speak to the needs of part-time students.

Kearns states that we are the proud Local 97 of the Canadian Federation of Students, and that with our membership there is a lot that we can access. She states that we were able to attend CFS National meetings in June and November and Ontario meetings in January and August. We moved motions including around dependent care funding, accessibility within meeting spaces, and in support of comprehensive harm reduction strategies. These motions passed and everyone was in favour. We also attended the CFS Ontario Skills Symposium. Kearns states that she also attended Federal Lobby Week and spoke to federal oversight on post-secondary education and the removal of 2% cap on the Post-Secondary Student Support Program for Indigenous students. She states that she and Froom also attended Provincial Lobby Week which was interesting after the recent cuts to post-secondary education were announced. She states that they spoke against the cuts to OSAP. She also attended the Circle of First Nations, Metis, and Inuit students national and provincial meetings.

Froom states we hosted a provincial election debates for local candidates with UTGSU and CFS-Ontario. She states that along with other student unions, we hosted sexual violence policy student-led consultations. She states that we are also doing work on campus with the $15 and Fairness U of T Chapter to support our members who are also workers. She reviews our donations from this past year as well as statements we have released.

Kearns provides a summary of the recent cuts to post-secondary education announced by the Ontario government in January, including cuts to OSAP and the Student Choice Initiative. She states that we are deeply concerned about the impact of the cuts on access to post-secondary education, particularly for marginalized students, and that we are fighting back. She states that these cuts will not only affect U of T students but also those at smaller institutions that rely heavily on government funding. She states that a 10% tuition cut without a corresponding investment in public funding to universities could lead to larger class sizes, reduced student services and job insecurity for workers on campus. She states that the cuts to OSAP include the elimination of the 6-month interest-free grace period after graduation and an increase to loans and less grants. She states that the Student Choice Initiative targets us as student unions, and that she is worried about its effect on food banks and drop-in centres that serve marginalized students.

Kearns states that we've had a lot of dialogue around these cuts with our members, our Board and our Assembly. She states that a message that came up during that dialogue was Tell Them No. She states that if U of T says no to implementing the cuts, then other smaller institutions can follow suit. She states that we met with the OVPS at a joint meeting with the other student unions to deliver this message. She states that we are working with other student groups on a Tell Them No campaign, for example, we hosted a Letter Writing party with Students for Barrier-Free Access. She states that we have also attended rallies and protests at Queen's Park with student groups from across the province. She states that on March 20, we will be organizing a Student Walkout on the St. George campus called We The Students Say No. We are asking U of T students, staff and faculty in asking the U of T administration to say no to implementing the cuts. There will be breakfast and banner-making, a solidarity rally, and a march to Simcoe Hall. Froom notes that the cuts have not yet been finalized by the U of T administration or by the province, so this is the time to be advocating.

Froom states that we are a membership-driven and student-led organization which includes, our Class representatives, Board members, Executive Committee and the Annual General Meeting.

Kearns states that this is her first year on the APUS team, and it has been the most exciting and thrilling year for her. She states that the APUS team is amazing and that our year reflects that. She states that our team includes our Executive Committee, Mala Kashyap, Susan Froom, Jaime Kearns, Richie Pyne, and Jennifer Coggon. She states that they have all worked hard, and that the amazing APUS staff have been right there with them. She thanks Campisi, Sivarajah, Berry, Fatima and everyone else. She thanks everyone for listening to the report and states that she looks forward to another absolutely wonderful year next year.

3. Auditor's Report

Rasmussen provides a review of the audited financial statements for the fiscal year 2018, including the statement of financial position, statement of cash flows, and notes to the financial statements. He explains the process for auditing non-profits such as APUS. He states that APUS is in good shape in terms of cash flow and financial position. He states this should help us deal with the recently announced cuts. He states that in the course of conducting the audit, there were no issues found and the process was smooth. He states that his team had access to all the information they needed to produce the audited financial statements. Rasmussen exits.

4. Other Business

Kanani asks if there is any other business or questions.

Froom encourages members to come out on March 20 for the Student Walkout. Coggon reminds members that they can also sign a petition asking the government to not make the proposed cuts.

5. Adjournment
